Linklaters names new singapore head

Linklaters has appointed a new managing partner in Singapore. Kevin Wong, a Singaporean, has been with Linklaters for more than 13 years, spending four years in London, Hong Kong and Shanghai respectively. Wong, a capital markets specialist, will combine his new role with being co-chairman of the Linklaters Allen & Gledhill joint law venture, where he takes over from Andrew Roberts who will return to London after a four-year tenure.
